Disposition

Establish a formal disposition procedure that disposes of records regularly, at least once a year. This safeguards against the accidental destruction of records that have not attained their minimum retention periods or that have met their retention periods but are needed for some other purpose, such as litigation or investigations.

Documenting disposition of records is not required, but recommended. An authorization form should include series titles and dates, quantity of records, method of destruction, and authorization signatures. To certify destruction, the form should also include the dated signature of a witness. (Appendix C, "Records Destruction Authorization" is a sample form).

Select a method of destruction that ensures total illegibility of confidential records. The most common methods of destruction include:

Incineration

Shredding

Landfill

Recycling
